Reformatio

The Pope granted provision to John Derlyng of the canonry and prebend of Crowy in the Church of Moray, as is more fully contained, etc. But in his supplication it was stated that the canonry and prebend were void by the free resignation of Thomas de Grenlaw in the hands of someone having power for the purpose, namely John de Prante who, it is believed, had not power for expediting the letters in the Apostolic Chancery because he could not conveniently show that the said Thomas had made the resignation. May the Pope ratify the resignation, wherever made, and give mandate to expedite the letters without mention of the power of admitting the said resignation - or at least that John is bound to show his power, and also with a certain pension on the said canonry and prebend, if resigned by a certain Edward de Lawedre, alleging right in the same, which he offers to resign if he obtain peaceable possession of the canonry and prebend called Glasgo Primo in the Church of Glasgow.

10 April, 1428

Nova provisio

Lately Thomas de Tulach, clerk, Brechin diocese, obtained the archdeaconry of Caithness by reason of exchange made in those parts by ordinary authority with a certain exchanger (compermutantem) and he holds it at present. Subsequently, in a cause ventilated for a long time in the Apostolic Palace anent the foresaid archdeaconry, he carried off a definitive sentence, which passed 'in rem judicatam' for himself and against a certain Thomas Duncani, priest, Aberdeen diocese. But since the foresaid Thomas Duncani proposes freely to resign, or now resigns, in the hands of the Pope all right (if he had any) in the said archdeaconry, and since by some it is alleged that the archdeaconry is void by the peaceable assecution of the deanery of Aberdeen by Nicholas de Tunnok, to whom provision had been made, as is alleged, by apostolic authority, therefore Thomas de Tulach supplicates that the Pope, admitting or causing to be admitted the foresaid resignation, would provide him anew or give mandate to provide him to the foresaid archdeaconry, a non-major dignity with cure (£15 sterling), void as above or in whatsoever way: notwithstanding that recently he had a grant of provision by the Pope to the canony and prebend of Croy in the Church of Moray (£10 sterling), with dispensation to hold two incompatibles with power of exchange.

26 November

Edward de Lawedre, M.A. of Paris, Lic.Theol., procurator of James king of Scotland, - that Pope would provide him to parish church of Arbuthnok, St Andrews diocese (£30 sterling), void by death in Roman Court of James Scyrmgeour, last possessor, or howsoever void: notwithstanding archdeaconry of Lothian, a dignity with cure, parish church of St Giles of Edinburgh, of lay patronage (total, to one resident, £140 sterling), which he possesses, and vicarage of Caral, said diocese, of which Pope recently granted him provision, and which he is ready to demit, also notwithstanding dispensation to hold two incompatibles, dispensation for defect of birth, and Expectative Graces; dispensing him to hold above parish church along with said archdeaconry and parish church of Edinburg for life, with power of exchange as often as he pleases.

Thomas de Tullach, archdeacon of Caithness, of noble race on both sides, present in Curia, - that Pope would provide him to vicarage of Langforgond, St Andrews diocese (£14 sterling), void by death of William Yhalouluk in Rome, at Apostolic See, or still void by resignation at Apostolic See of Laurence Pyot, formerly claiming to have right therein: notwithstanding archdeaconry of Caithness, a non-major dignity with cure (£20 sterling), which he holds, and right which he has in canonry and prebend of Croy in church of Moray, anent which he is litigating in Apostolic Palace (£10 sterling), which he does not possess, and notwithstanding that recently Pope granted him provision of canonry and prebend of Kylmichel in church of Ross (£7 sterling), which he also does not possess, also notwithstanding dispensation to two incompatibles; dispensing him to hold vicarage of Longforgond (if collated to him by virtue of the presents) for life along with said archdeaconry and canonry and prebend, or at least to hold three incompatibles with power of exchange as often as he pleases.

Lately Pope granted provision to Edward de Lawedre of parish church of Arbuthnoth, St Andrews diocese, willing that he should resign all right in vicarage of Carall, said diocese, as Edward freely offered. Hugh de Turyng, priest, Brechin diocese, B.Dec., present in Curia, supplicates that Pope would provide him to said vicarage (£25 sterling), void by cession or resignation or by assecution of above parish church, or still void by promotion of George de Lawedre to church of Argyll or by death of Christopher Pontfret within two days journey from Roman Court at Agnani, or by free resignation of Alexander de Castelcaris or by lapse of time of expediting letters by Alexander. Fiat ut petitur pro omnibus tribus et dispensamus cum duobus primis. O. Rome, S. Apostoli, 6 Kal. Dec., anno 13.

14 August, 1429  Thomas de Tulach, archdeacon of Caithness, - that Pope would provide him to canonry and prebend of Kyrimychel in church of Ross (£7 of old sterling), void because the holder, Nicholas Tunok, priest, Aberdeen diocese, obtained possession of deanery of Aberdeen or by his free resignation, although a certain David de Pety, priest, Moray diocese, has detained them unlawfully occupied for about four years: notwithstanding that Thomas holds archdeaconry of Caithness (£20 sterling) and is litigating in Apostolic Palace anent canonry and prebend of Croye in church of Moray (£10 sterling). John	Inchmartin, d Canon	1430	Scottish Supplications to Rome 1428-1432	156

29 December, 1430

Lately Andrew de Monro, holding canonry and prebend of Croy in church of Moray, and John de Inchmartyn, holding archdeaconry of Ross, for sake of exchange, resigned in hands of ordinary who, admitting resignation, collated archdeaconry to Andrew and canonry and prebend to John, by virtue of which collation and provision Andrew obtained possession of said archdeaconry and has held and possessed it for about fifteen years, taking up the fruits. But it is alleged by some that archdeaconry was not void by above resignation but because John, holding it peaceably for more than a year did not have himself promoted to priesthood and because Andrew was dispensed that notwithstanding defect of birth as son of a priest and an unmarried woman he might be promoted and hold, first, one benefice with cure, and then to hold a canonry with power of exchange; and he fears that having no other dispensation and for certain other causes his collation and provision to archdeaconry lack validity, therefore he to whom Pope formerly granted provision of said archdeaconry with habilitation under a certain form, although letters were not expedited within statutory time, supplicates that Pope would provide him anew to said archdeaconry (£20 sterling), void by resignation or non-promotion of above John, or still void by death of David de Seton, formerly archdeacon outwith Roman Court, habilitating him and dispensing him to hold archdeaconry freely and lawfully.

Fiat ut petitur. O.
